Points (EXP) calculation method: 1 point added for each correct answer

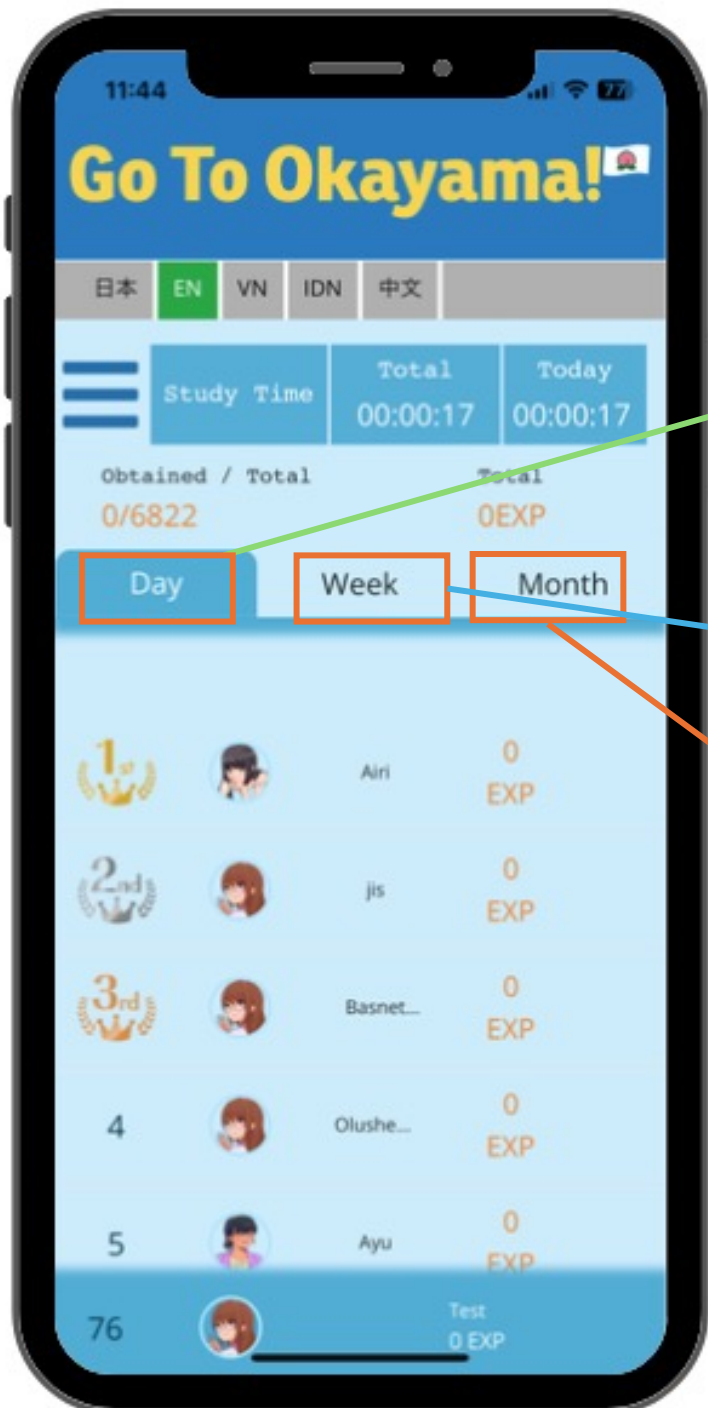

Number of correct answers:
How many questions did you answer correctly based on the total number of questions in the app?

Cumulative:
Total points from the start of using the app to the present

Ranking:
Displays users in rankings in descending order of the number of points earned

Your ranking and points by day/week/month

Rankings are divided by day, week, and month. Here's how EXP is calculated:

Day : Points earned daily

You will receive 1 EXP only for the first question you answer correctly on the same day.

Even if you answer the same question correctly multiple times in one day, EXP will only be added once.

Week : Points earned during the week

1 EXP will be added only for the first question answered correctly within a week.

If a question is answered correctly multiple times in a week, only 1 EXP will be added to the weekly points earned for that question.

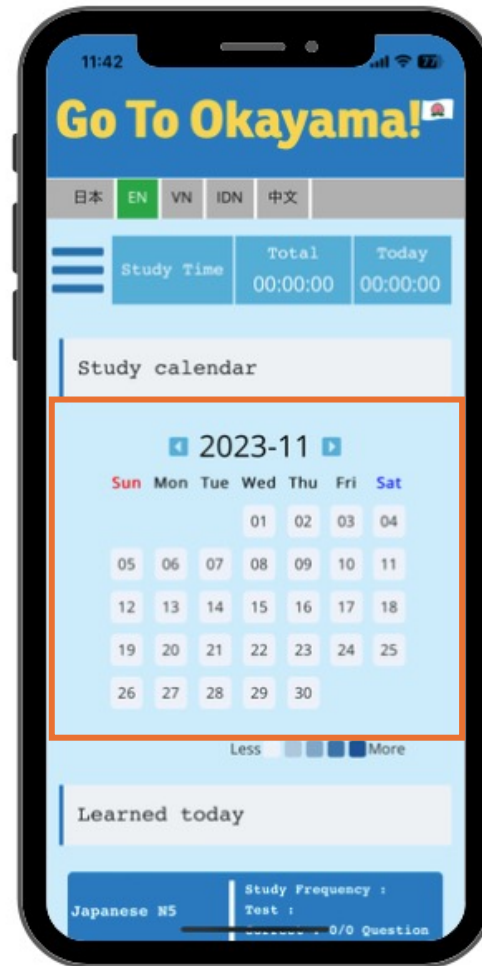

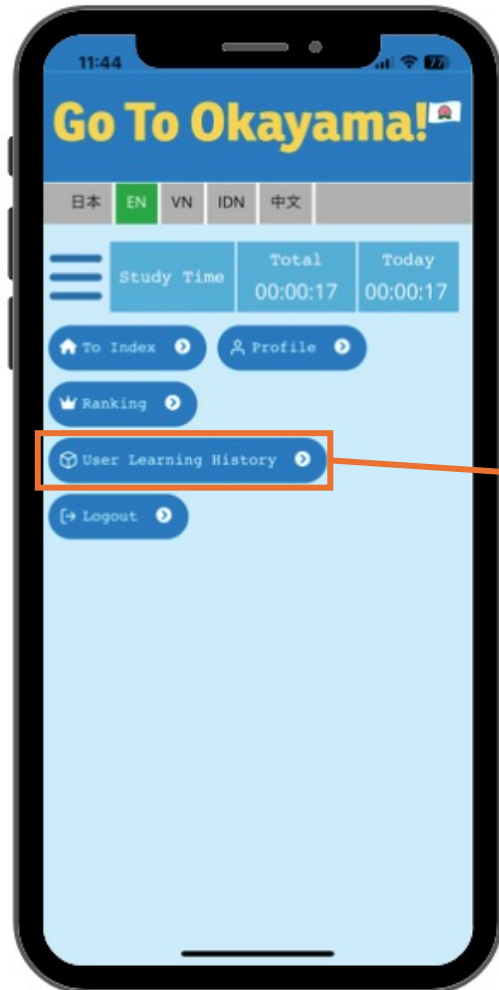

Month : Points earned during the month

1 EXP will be added only for the first question answered correctly within a month.

If a question is answered correctly multiple times within a month, only 1 EXP will be added to the monthly points earned for that question.

Regarding the cumulative points, even if you answer the same question correctly multiple times during the same day/week/month, points will be added for each once correct answer.
